General disclaimer

From PropFirmLicenseWiki, the free encyclopedia of prop firm licensing · Last updated 28 November 2026

PropFirmLicenseWiki provides general information only. It is not legal, tax, financial or investment advice, and it is not a recommendation to use or avoid any prop firm, broker or jurisdiction. Rules and regulators' positions change, and articles may not reflect the latest changes. Always confirm with the regulator concerned or a qualified professional before you set up a prop trading business or pay for a challenge.

Trading leveraged products such as CFDs, forex and futures is high-risk, and most retail traders lose money. Most traders who buy prop firm challenges do not pass them, and challenge fees are usually not refundable. A licence does not protect anyone against trading losses.

PropFirmLicenseWiki is not a regulator and is not affiliated with any regulator, prop firm or broker. The only authoritative record of who holds a licence is the regulator's own public register.
